Sees JFK Aim To Help Castro

The Committee for the Monroe Doctrine charged yesterday that President Kennedy is not only prepared to accept Communist control of Cuba but seeks ways of assisting the Castro regime.

Expressing concern over ever-growing rumors that the Kennedy Administration plans to ship American material and dollars to bail out Castro from the economic disaster which faces this regime, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, the committee chairman said:

"President Kennedy wants to be 'pushed' into helping Castro through 'spontaneous pressures' from various religious groups in the U. S.

"Mr. James B. Donovan, the attorney who negotiated the scandalous ransom demanded by Castro for prisoners, is involved again. Now he is retained by the American Friends Service Committee, which is attempting to mobilize religious support for President Kennedy's desire to help the Castro regime."
